

Our high school youth group made a big decision recently. They spent weeks talking about what is important to them as a group, and decided to name themselves, and come up with a mission statement. They are still working on their mission statement, but have voted to call our high school youth group SWAGG from now on. It stands for

Salvation,

W

orship,

A

ltruism, and

lory to

G od – all things that they feel are what their youth group should be about!
